

*** PHD THESIS PUBLIC COPY ***

File: 15020472_Lamberg.pdf

This file can be deposited in electronic databases and be made publicly available.

*** PHD THESIS INFO ***

Title: Clothing the paper : On the state of newspaper design, redesigns, and art directors' perspectives in contemporary quality and popular newspapers

Student: Jasso J. J. Lamberg

Student ID: 15020472

Date: December 2015

Keywords: newspaper design, news design, newspapers, design research, graphic design, typography, visual journalism, journalism, mass media, visual communication, mixed methods, paradigm building

Department: Typography & Graphic Communication, University of Reading

Supervisors: Andy Goodwyn & Mary Dyson

Format: 247 pages (A4 format, 203 pages + front and back matter)

*** NOTE ON IMAGES AND COPYRIGHT ***

Some images from British newspapers have been removed from this public version of the thesis for copyright reasons. The British law allows the use of copyrighted images without permission for 'examination purposes'. Thus, these images are included in the two copies of the thesis found at the Reading University library.

In order to distribute the work in any manner outside the university permissions must be obtained for copyrighted images. However, this often means paying fees and possible restrictions to the distribution. Because of this I have omitted or replaced images for which permissions could not be reasonably obtained. Fortunately these images are not essential to reading the thesis.

-- All images from The Guardian have been reproduced with permission. (On pages 18, 105, and 111.)

-- Images from The Times, The Sun, and Daily Mirror have been omitted on pages 18, 105, and 109.

-- On page 111 the partial-cutout image has been substituted with my own example based on a photo by Dima Bushkov (Creative Commons license CC BY 2.0).

-- On page 194 the images of The Times covers have been substituted by diagrammatic drawings.

All material from Finnish sources remains uncensored as the Finnish Copyright Law allows the reproduction of copyrighted material in academic works, regardless of how these are distributed and/or published.